

INGUELORE SCHEUNEMANN

Graduated in Dentistry from the Federal University of Pelotas, Pelotas, RS, Brazil, Masters in European Economic Union - Universidad de Granada, Spain, and PhD in Stomatology - Universidad de Granada, Spain.

Currently, is President of HERITY International, Rome, Italy, Coordinator of the Morro Redondo Pole of the IPT/UNESCO Chair of Humanities and Cultural Integrated Landscape Management, President of the General Council of the Polytechnic University of Tomar- IPT - Portugal, Researcher at the Geosciences Center of the Coimbra University, Portugal - Earth Sciences and Humanities area, vice-president of the Scientific Committee of the Institute for Development, Culture and Science, Portalegre, Portugal, member of the scientific committee of the Centro Universitario Europeo Per I Beni Culturali, Ravello, Italy.

Previously, was manager of the Science and Society Area of the Ibero-American Science and Technology for Development Program – CYTED, Madrid, Spain, Vice-President of the Association of Portuguese Universities – AULP – Lisbon , Portugal, Member of the International Committee of the Herity Institute, Rome, Italy, member of the Scientific Steering Committee for the Sustainable Development Conference, member of the Scientific Committee of the European Conference of the Humanities, evaluator of projects in the International Cooperation Program for Latin America - European Commission, Director of Research and Development area at IBIO -Instituto BioAtlantica, Rio de Janeiro, RJ, Brazil, as well as, international advisor for Brazil at Universidad de Castilla-la Mancha, Spain.

Also, was Rector of the Federal University of Pelotas, Brazil, for two terms, and Rector of the Universidade Vale do Rio Doce, Brazil.

Is a researcher in Cultural Integrated Landscape Management for Sustainable Development, as well as coordinates programs in the academic and business areas.